

List of Contributors

Benjamin M. Ezzes

Benjamin M. Ezzes (BEd/BA, [Hons, First Class], University of Sydney 2020) is the Education Chair of the New South Wales Jewish Board of Deputies, teacher and Jewish Studies (Yr 9/10) Stage Coordinator at Moriah War Memorial College, and graduate of 2014.

Steven Frankel

Professor Steven Frankel received his Ph.D. from the Committee on Social Thought at the University of Chicago. He currently teaches at Xavier University (Ohio) in the Department of Philosophy, and also serves as the Executive Director of the Stephen S. Smith Center in the Williams College of Business, where he is the Smith Professor of Political Economy. Professor Frankel's scholarly work focuses on the relationship between philosophy and religion. His work has appeared in over a dozen journals and in various collections including Spinoza and Medieval Jewish Philosophy (Cambridge University Press), Reorientation: Leo Strauss in the 1930s (Palgrave Macmillan), and Liquider Mai 68? (Presses de la Renaissance, Paris). His books include French Studies: Literature, Culture, and Politics (with John Ray, Editions Honore Champion, Paris, 2014) and Civil Religion in Modern Political Philosophy (with Martin Yaffe, Penn State University Press, 2020). His most recent book with John Ray is entitled Equality and Excellence (SUNY Press, 2023). He is currently writing a book, Commerce and Character, on Ralph Lerner's interpretation of the American Revolution (University Press of Kansas, forthcoming).

Amy-Jill Levine

Amy-Jill Levine is Rabbi Stanley M. Kessler Distinguished Professor of New Testament and Jewish Studies, Hartford International University for Religion and Peace, University Professor of New Testament and Jewish Studies Emerita and the Mary Jane Werthan Professor of Jewish Studies at Vanderbilt University. She is the author of many books, including The Misunderstood Jew, Short Stories by Jesus, and Jesus for Everyone, Not Just Christians. She is the co-editor of The Jewish Annotated New Testament.

Joshua Nash

Dr. Joshua Nash is founding editor of Some Islands: A journal of linguistics and art and editor of Australian Journal of Jewish Studies.

Andre Oboler

Dr. Andre Oboler holds a PhD in Computer Science from Lancaster University and an LLM(JD) from Monash University. He is CEO of the Online Hate Prevention Institute, and an honorary associate in the Law School at La Trobe University. He is an expert member of the Australian Government's delegation to the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance and serves on its Committee on Antisemitism and Holocaust Denial. He chairs IEEE's Global Policy Caucus. Dr Oboler has published a number of books and book chapters related to online hate, as well as numerous reports and articles. He has provided expert testimony to governments, parliaments, and the United Nations. He regularly provides media commentary on a range of issues related to online hate and the impact of technology on society.

Suzanne D. Rutland

Suzanne D. Rutland (OAM, PhD), Professor Emerita, Hebrew & Jewish Studies, University of Sydney, is a past president of the Australian Association for Jewish Studies, patron of the Australian Jewish Historical Society, and member of the Australian IHRA Delegation. She is a widely published author on Australian Jewry.

Michael Sassoon

Michael J. Sassoon (MTeach, USyd 2015, BCom [Merit] UNSW 2002) is a teacher at Moriah War Memorial College and graduate of 2000. He studied from 2004-2006 at Yeshiva University RIETS and Belz School of Music (Sephardi Hazzanut), building on his Indian-Iraqi background.

Anne Sarzin

Anne Sarzin has two doctorates. Her first PhD thesis focused on the dramatic works of playwright Athol Fugard and her second was a biographical study of Dr. Fanny Reading. Anne's adaptation of her doctoral thesis, The Angel of Kings Cross: The life and times of Dr. Fanny Reading, was published in 2023. With her daughter, Dr. Lisa Sarzin, Anne co-authored Hand in Hand: Jewish and Indigenous people working together, for which they interviewed more than 80 participants involved in collaborative initiatives in Australia. Anne has worked as editor in university media units in Sydney and as a free-lance journalist, with her research articles published in Australia and abroad. She lives in Sydney, works as a researcher/writer—and teaches qigong.

Aleksei Surin

Aleksei Surin is a Ph.D. candidate and Research Assistant in the Department of Literature of the Jewish People at Bar-Ilan University, Israel. His research interests include Russian-Jewish and Russian-Israeli literature and Holocaust studies. In January 2024, he began co-editing the Polish academic journal Iudaica Russica.